

Chinese Red POWs Stage Sitdown On Repatriation Vessel

Prisoners Won't Leave Ship At Pusan

Pusan, Korea, Wednesday (AP)—Two platoons of rifle-carrying American soldiers wearing gas masks today closed around a landing ship which brought more than 700 Chinese here for an exchange of sick and wounded prisoners at Panmunjom next week when some of the POWs began a sitdown strike aboard the ship.

Three minutes later another group of infantrymen carrying pistols but not wearing gas masks boarded the vessel.

The POWs, Chinese Reds who have said they wanted to be repatriated, were brought here from Cheju Island POW camps.

American soldier-guards were issued gas masks after the POWs ignored a deadline for getting off the vessel.

Litter patients were carried off the landing ship when it first arrived this morning.

Then a Chinese prisoner spokesman shouted to the American guards that the rest would not leave. Other prisoners shouted, apparently in approval of the spokesman's words.

The prisoners were American Army clothes, with new Army overcoats and blankets slung over their shoulders. They were carried in the spacious hold of the LST.

Munsan, Korea, Wednesday (AP)—U. S. jets roared over North Korea in clear weather today in fruitless search for three convoys the Reds say are bringing sick and wounded Allied prisoners south for an exchange next week at Panmunjom.

Low clouds and haze over the convoy route lifted at 11 a. m. the Fifth Air Force reported, and visibility cleared. But the searching pilots reported they could not see the convoys. The pilots reported they saw vehicles on the road the convoys were to use, the Air Force said, but they carried no red markings that were to distinguish the convoys.

Communist staff officers at Panmunjom have said that three convoys would be on North Korean roads today, carrying about half the 600 Allied prisoners due for exchange to the trading point at Panmunjom.

The search planes began their vigil yesterday, when the first convoy was reported to have left a POW camp in deep Northwest Korea. The Reds said two other convoys were to leave other camps near the Manchurian border today.

The searching jets were trying for a sighting of the convoys, and, more important, standing guard over the convoy route to warn away any Allied warplanes that might get over the area. The jet patrol over the road winding down from the north was part of the Air Force's precautionary plan to prevent any mistake bombings or strafing of the convoys.

In a staff officers' meeting at Panmunjom today, the U. N. Command asked the Reds the nationalities of the prisoners the Reds say they will deliver on the first day of the exchange—next Monday.

Red staff officers did not reply but said they might inform the Allies of the nationalities earlier than the 24 hours' notice called for in the exchange agreement understanding they reached earlier.

Cut In Spending May Pave Way For Lower Taxes

Washington (AP)—House Republican leaders discussed taxes and appropriations for two and a half hours yesterday and reported optimism that spending can be reduced enough to pave the way for tax cuts this year.

House Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) after a closed door session of the House GOP Policy Committee, said reports of upcoming budget cuts "held out hope" for passage of a tax trimming bill by Rep. Reed (R-N.Y.).

For the first time, Martin said the tax cut will be justified if appropriations are trimmed enough to bring the budget close to balance for the year beginning July 1—and if a fully balanced budget is in sight for the following year.

Wind Blows Truck Off Route 209

Bushkill—Wind blew a truck out of control yesterday and the vehicle careened into a telegraph pole. The Stroudsburg driver was uninjured.

Milford State police said driver Edward J. Tweedie, 38, of 1080 Dreher Ave., was driving the Twin County Distributors truck along Route 209 three miles north of Bushkill at 2:40 p.m.

Troopers said the truck has a high box body. Tweedie claimed the wind struck the truck with such force as to "blow" it off the road. Before he could regain control, the truck hit the telephone pole and snapped it off.

The vehicle went on into a ditch, wound up against a culvert. The truck was damaged to the extent of $1,800.

State Lottery Bill Offered By Legislator

Harrisburg (AP)—A state-operated lottery with the proceeds earmarked for hospitals was proposed yesterday in the House as a way of solving Pennsylvania's tax problems.

Rep. Edward Dunn (R-Northumberland) introduced a bill to have the commonwealth run four lotteries each year with the tickets sold by state liquor stores. "It's impossible to estimate how much such a plan would bring in but I'm sure it would go a long way toward solving this tax mess," Dunn told a newsman.

Under Dunn's plan, a non-paid lottery commission would deduct 25 per cent of the proceeds for prizes. The rest would be used to finance state-aided and state-owned hospitals.

Tuck Elected To Congress

Danville, Va., (AP)—Former Democratic Gov. William M. Tuck was elected to Congress yesterday in the nation's first special election in a normally Democratic district that bolted to Eisenhower last fall.

The portly country lawyer, who repudiated the Democratic presidential ticket, defeated Republican Lorne Ross Campbell.

Work To Start June 10 On Tobyhanna Housing Project

Tobyhanna—First of 200 housing units to be constructed on the former parade grounds across from the $33,000,000 U. S. Signal Corps depot here will get under way June 10, with the completion of 20 units set for Sept. 1. It was learned here yesterday.

Col. William S. Mack, commanding officer, said the depot was awaiting official word but it had been informed by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers that a certificate of necessity paving the way for construction has been approved by Federal Home and Housing Administration.

Award for the units went to Kaplan Construction Co. of Englewood, N. J., for their low bid of $1,690,000. Col. Mack recalled. The buildings are now ready for financing by the Federal Housing Administration under the Wherry Housing Act program.

Speaking before the first press conference at the depot, Col. Mack explained the buildings will be occupied by Signal Corps officers and their families and other key personnel assigned to the depot by the Civil Service Commission.

"After we have exhausted our priority list the contractor is free to award units to whomever he pleases," Col. Mack said. He further explained that units are expected to rent from $78 to $95 a month and noted the high cost of housing probably would limit the group who occupy the structures. Thirty U. S. Army officers and about 180 key personnel are among those who will be granted priority for the homes, Col. Mack said.

Six-Inch Snow Leaves Five Dead In New England

Boston (AP)—Winter paid New England a tardy and hasty visit yesterday in the guise of a six-inch snowfall that took five lives, stranded 1,000 in an all-night traffic jam and overturned a fishing boat in raging seas.

The pilot of the boat apparently was trapped in her capized pilot house. Three other deaths were due to over-exertion and another to an automobile mishap.

The spring-time storm also delayed opening of the American League baseball season at Lincoln Downs, in Rhode Island. The traffic snarl occurred in Charlton in Central Massachusetts—where the snow was heaviest.

Oil Companies Face Civil Suit

Washington (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell announced formally yesterday that the Justice Department is abandoning, for national security reasons, the criminal anti-trust inquiry brought by the Truman administration against major oil companies. A civil suit, instead, will be filed April 21.

In the filing date, followed a conference with lawyers for the companies involved in the investigation of an alleged international oil cartel.

Appropriation Proposed

Harrisburg (AP)—A bill to appropriate one million dollars for the construction of a school of veterinary medicine at the Pennsylvania State College was introduced last night in the House.

Ex-Economist Refuses To Talk At Probe

Washington (AP)—A former government economist, who got a high recommendation from former Secretary of State Acheson in 1947, refused yesterday to say whether he was a Communist then or at any other time.

Harold Glasser, who was a federal employee for a dozen years, also refused to admit any acquaintance or association with persons who have been named as members of Red spy rings within the government.

Glasser did tell of attending international conferences with Acheson and with George C. Marshall, then secretary of state. But he wouldn't say whether he conferred with Communists or any of the economic or financial advice he gave the two high officials.

The 47-year-old New Yorker appeared before the Senate Internal Security Committee, which has announced it would try to expose the manner in which Communists infiltrated government agencies.

Time after time, in a voice almost inaudible, the witness fell back on the Constitution and its provision that nobody can be compelled to testify against himself.

Lawmakers Urge State Wine Tax

Harrisburg (AP)—A bill to tax bottled wine handled by state liquor stores reached the Senate last night.

The tax would be in the form of a service charge.

Sponsored by Sens. Rowland B. Mahany, Republican floor leader, and John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader, the measure went to the Senate Law and Order Committee.

Cool Weather Due To Greet Fishermen This Morning On Opening Of Trout Season

Cool weather was due this morning but local fishermen were expected to tackle the streams anyway for the opening of the 108-day trout season.

Starting time is 5 a.m., when temperatures as low as the mid-twenties were predicted. Streams in Monroe County have been stocked with from 20 to 25 thousand brook, rainbow and brown trout. Value of the stocking is estimated as in the neighborhood of $18,000.

The trout placed in the streams are legal-catch size, too. Most ran around nine or 10 inches, though size varied all the way from seven to 18 inches.

Predicted Fish Warden Floyd Bachman, "It should be a good season if it warms up a little."

Streams are up slightly over normal, he said, but not enough to interfere much with the fishing.

The cold temperatures may

House Lacks Seven Votes, Stays Tax Bill

Harrisburg (AP)—A lack of seven votes forced the House Republican leadership yesterday to put off again a vote on the two per cent sales tax.

Rep. Albert W. Johnson, Republican floor leader, said 98 GOP votes are now available for the controversial levy. The constitutional majority to pass a tax bill is 105.

"Don't consider the sales tax a dead pigeon," he told a newsman.

"It's definitely still alive."

Johnson told reporters that the Republican representatives "want another week of study" on the disputed sales tax issue.

"We're going back home to get more opinions from the people," he said.

In other developments, long-awaited bills to re-apportion the House and Senate districts were introduced in the respective branches. The General Assembly last was re-apportioned in 1921 although the Constitution calls for it after each 10-year census.

The House measure would increase the membership from 208 to 210. The Senate membership would remain at 50 as provided by the state Constitution but one new senator would be given each to Delaware and Montgomery Counties by abolishing two present districts.

The Senate passed the first major recommendation of the Chesterman Government Study Committee—a bill to merge the Department of Health, Welfare and Public Assistance into a new Department of Health and Welfare. It went to the House by a 28-17 vote.

The Chesterman committee estimated the merger would save the commonwealth one million dollars a biennium and that the figure might eventually reach 12 million dollars, if all the committee's recommendations were carried out.

Sen. Rowland B. Mahany, Republican floor leader, one of three GOP senators changing their vote for passage, said he did so "to make sure that no one can say the Senate was not voting for economy."

Johnson said enough converts from the 11-member anti-sales tax bloc may be obtained on the basis of wide publicity given to $19,265,000 in budget cuts.

"We hope that the opposition from the people in the home counties of those who are unsure of the sales tax will be dissolved when it is known what we are doing about economies," he said.

GOP chieftains are shooting for 30 million dollars in outright cuts in Gov. John S. Fine's proposed $1,400,000,000 budget for the 1953-55 biennium.

Fine himself has claimed that the budget is already cut to the bone. Johnson pointed out the Governor chopped 66 millions in state department requests before submitting his budget to the lawmakers.

David M. Walker, Labor and Industry Secretary, entered the budget-cutting picture with an attack on a House Appropriations Committee plan to slash his department's budget by 12 per cent.

Of the $900,000 cut, he said, $500,000 would be for firing one-fifth of the department employees.

Ten Boarded Airliner At Scranton

Washington (AP)—The Army said yesterday Miami Airlines had reported the following military personnel from Pennsylvania aboard the chartered plane which crashed in the Cascade Mountains:

Con Groski, Wilkes-Barre; Willard Welsh, Wilkes-Barre; Anthony Lacattora, Dunmore; Anthony Clancy, Dunmore; Robert Lynch, of Carbondale.

Howard Wernuth, Carbondale; James Kuntz, Bloomsburg; Steve Kocko, Archibald; Joseph Smoiza, Coal Dale; Robert Costello, Coal Dale.

The above 10 men were listed as having boarded the airplane at Scranton.

Welsh suffered minor injuries. Lynch fractures of feet and legs. Costello undetermined injuries.

Ponger Pleads Guilty As Spy For Russia

Washington (AP)—A second ex-GI pleaded guilty yesterday to conspiring to slip American military secrets to Russia, and a government official said there may be more arrests soon in the Communist spy plot.

In a surprise move, Kurt L. Ponger, 39, changed his plea from innocent to guilty when brought before U.S. District Judge Alexander Holtzoff yesterday and threw himself on the mercy of the court. He faces a possible sentence of up to 20 years.

His brother-in-law and co-defendant, Otto Verber, 31, followed the same tactics Monday.

Both men are natives of Austria who joined the American Army during World War II, served in military intelligence and won U.S. citizenship on the basis of their war records. They were ostensibly studying at the University of Vienna in Austria under the GI Bill of Rights when collared by American agents last January.

Only a bare outline of their activities has been disclosed by the government. Little if anything more will come to light now that they have elected not to defend themselves at public trials.

Solons Propose Tax Crackdown On Movie Stars

Washington (AP)—A California congressman called yesterday for a crackdown on movie stars who get plush salaries for making pictures abroad and thus avoid payment of U.S. income taxes.

Rep. King (D-Calif.) told the House this practice by movie stars, whom he did not identify, is costing the government millions of dollars each year.

"This certainly is not a course of conduct as would emphasize their patriotism to America," he added.

King joined Chairman Reed (R-N.Y.) of the House Ways and Means Committee in introducing separate bills to repeal a provision of the income tax law.

The provision exempts from taxes the income earned by American workers in a period during which they spent 17 of 18 consecutive months outside the United States.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphries suggested that Congress do something about the situation.

18 Survive, Four Killed, Three Not Yet Accounted For

Seattle (AP)—Rescuers working in cold darkness fought last night to free survivors believed trapped in the wreckage of a chartered airliner which crashed into the Cascade Mountains with 25 persons aboard.

Four persons were killed in the crash of the twin-engine DC3 before dawn yesterday. There were 18 reported survivors and three persons unaccounted for.

Eight persons were rescued by helicopter. Two walked out.

Twenty-two of those aboard the DC3 were soldiers, picked up Sunday midnight at Washington, D. C., and early Monday at Scranton, Pa.

The temperature was expected to drop below freezing at the crash site during the night.

Shivering and pain-wracked occupants of the plane who rode out its plunge through hundreds of yards of trees waited for rescue around small fires built near the wreck scene or curled up in sleeping bags dropped from the air.

The Miami Airlines plane crashed 40 miles southeast of Seattle, its destination.

Comdr. Robert T. Norris, a Coast Guard officer at search headquarters in the little town of Sellick, said the number of known survivors had been reduced from an earlier count of 19 on the basis of reports from helicopter pilots. Norris said the tally leaves three unaccounted for among the 25 on the plane when it crashed into a heavily forested ridge after one of its two engines failed.

He said it had been established definitely that the pilot and co-pilot were killed in the smashed nose of the plane, which apparently hit the earth after a heavy growth of towering trees provided a cushion for the crash.

Passenger lists released in Washington carried the names of 22 soldiers. The plane carried a crew of three, including a stewardess, Mrs. Adra Long of Berkeley, Calif. She was rescued yesterday afternoon after a grueling trek down the snow-covered mountainside.

Capt. George Harris, a McChord surgeon, said reports indicated some of the survivors were still pinned in the wreckage.

The temperature at the scene in late afternoon was above freezing, with snow continuing to melt. Temperatures drop to near freezing in the area at night, however, and sleeping bags were dropped for the survivors still at the scene.

Four doctors were at the scene or on the way there. They have to hike the final mile or mile and a half from a helicopter landing spot on the ridge.

They were taking blood plasma and morphine for the relief of the injured.

The rescued stewardess described one victim as having his leg almost torn off.

The Coast Guard rescue director said two more of the victims might be brought out during the night but more would be rescued if they can be brought down to the mountain logging road.

The third survivor brought from the ridge late in the day was Pvt. Robert Lynch, 21, of Carbondale, Pa. A surgeon from McChord Air Force Base said he has severe fractures of both feet and lower legs.

The first two survivors, rescued by helicopter after hiking through the snow separately from the isolated scene, said they left many maimed and injured behind them as they set out for help.

The two were Mrs. Long and Odell Matthews, Washington, D. C., one of the soldiers.

Two others were picked up as rapidly as the small helicopter could make its flights up the mountainside.

They were Willard Welsh of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., who appeared in good condition, and Melvin E. Belvord of Goldsboro, Md.

British Announce Tax Reductions

London (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill's government cut income taxes, sales taxes and industrial taxes yesterday in a national budget aimed mainly at speeding up manufacturing for export.

Churchill's chancellor of the exchequer, R. A. Butler, announced income tax cuts which will mean that the average British wage earner—who gets the equivalent of about $1,400 a year—with a wife and one child will pay $32.80 a year instead of $39.40. A man earning $5,600—the income of an ordinary British physician—with a wife and one child will pay $1,372.20 instead of $1,459.50.

Ike Requests U. S. To Sell Rubber Plants

Washington (AP)—President Eisenhower yesterday asked Congress to denationalize the government's 550 million dollar synthetic rubber industry by authorizing the sale of the plants to private enterprise.

The President's recommendation, in a special message to Congress, marked another move toward restoring the nation to a free-wheeling economy.

It followed a recent series of White House executive orders abolishing federal controls over wages, prices and other segments of the country's economy.

Officials called it the government's first such "denationalization" venture. Congress originally set up the government in the synthetic rubber business to overcome shortages that developed when Japan's far-ranging armies cut off this country's supplies of natural rubber from the Far East early in World War II.

In a message from his golfing vacation headquarters at Augusta, Ga., Eisenhower said that adequate stockpiles of rubber have now been built up to cope with foreseeable needs, and he declared:

"After consultation with the National Security Resources Board, I recommend the prompt enactment of disposal legislation."

Laos To Fight Against Reds

Hanoi, Indochina, (AP)—With Vietnamese troops inside its borders in force, the little kingdom of Laos ordered general mobilization of manpower yesterday to fight alongside the French against the Communist-led invaders.

Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh's forces struck across Laos' northeastern frontier and encircled the town of Samnua, 10 miles southwest of Hanoi. The French high command announced Monday night the garrison had abandoned Samnua. Yesterday, the retreating French and Laotian troops clashed with elements of the Vietnamese rebels.

Abnormally Cold Weather Likely For Next Month

Washington (AP)—The Weather Bureau said yesterday it will be colder than usual in the northern half of the country and much of the southwest during the next month.

Its 30-day outlook added: "Above normal temperatures are expected in the South Atlantic and Gulf States. Elsewhere, near normal temperatures are indicated. "Precipitation is expected to exceed normal over the northern half of the country, but subnormal rainfall is indicated over the southwest. Elsewhere, about normal rainfall is predicted."

Ban Roving Constables

Licenses To Observe Local Time

Harrisburg (AP)—State liquor stores and retail outlets—hotels, restaurants and clubs—will observe the prevailing time in their community when Daylight Saving Time becomes effective April 26.

Many communities in Pennsylvania will turn up their clocks one hour on the last Sunday in April but some will continue to observe Eastern Standard Time during the summer months.

The Liquor Control Board yesterday reminded retail license holders of its long-standing policy of observing the prevailing time during the months that Daylight Saving Time is in effect.

In communities observing Daylight Saving Time both state stores and retail outlets will open and close on that time. In communities continuing on Eastern Standard Time, state stores and retailers will observe that time.

The effect of the ruling will be that state stores and retailers in a Daylight Saving Time zone will open and close an hour earlier than at present. Those operating on Eastern Standard Time will open and close an hour later than those operating on daylight time.

Mr. Horace Heller
The Daily Record
Stroudsburg, Penna.

Dear Mr. Editor:

A year ago at this time the school committee of the Hamilton Township Civic League was very busy making a study of jointures as they would apply to our Township. In good faith we made this survey as impartial as possible. We as a group interviewed school officials from all over Monroe County as well as State school officials from Harrisburg. We studied the social and financial effects of a jointure with Stroudsburg Borough versus a West End jointure in particular. We gave the factual findings of these studies to a Stroudsburg attorney so that personalities and personal opinions would not determine the survey's conclusions.

The Stroudsburg attorney and school officials from Harrisburg were summoned to a meeting in the Blue Ridge Hotel and Ladder Company's Fire Hall in Stroudsburg. The meeting was well publicized so that our Township could hear the results of the survey and then ask questions. A handful of people from the Township turned out to this meeting.

Our Township's school directors entered into the Pleasant Valley Jointure. Now it appears that a good many taxpayers and citizens are dissatisfied with this action. From those to whom I have talked personally, I find the information on our future school system is based on gossip and not facts.

Mr. Editor why can't people find out facts before they condemn something our school directors decided would be to the advantage of our township. It is ridiculous to believe that we can continue to send our high school boys and girls to the Stroudsburg Borough High School on the same financial basis as we have in the past. This is only one of many distorted opinions.

The future of our County and our Country depends on the development and education of our children. We surely do not set an example for our children nor do we do them justice unless we keep an open mind and seek all sources of information before we draw our conclusions.

Our School Board has the answers to all of these various questions and problems. The decisions that they have made have been entirely legal and within their power. Don't let's criticise them unless we are sure that gossip on the grapevine is based on truth. Open-minded unity will bring progress and development to all of us. We are all apt to forget one of our ten commandments—Judge not your neighbor lest ye be judged yourself.

I make a plea to all the people of Hamilton Township to find out the true facts about our Pleasant Valley School Jointure as soon as possible. These facts are available at our School Boards meetings and from all County School Officials.

Sincerely,
Gwen J. Veety

... Who Has The Button?

The chances of going through another Summer without adequate landing facilities at the Mount Pocono Airport appear to be a sure thing.

Most everybody is looking for a "sure thing" these days, but in this instance the certainty of a sure thing is one of the most damaging things that could happen to this region.

For the last few years the project has hung in an aura of uncertainty, while other regions of the state and nation have leaped under the impact of commercial air service.

All this time at least one major commercial air line—All-American Airways—has been begging for a solid, extended runway so they could add the Monroe County airport to its passenger, mail and air express stops.

The Airport Authority has had engineers prepare a master plan and at least one project covering all or some phase of this plan for providing adequate facilities has been filed in Washington with a request for federal funds.

Monday the airport authority met with Monroe County Commissioners to discuss the question of county aid to help set up local matching funds.

Reports of that meeting again bring to the fore one thing—uncertainty. Here are a few:

Exactly what sum has been earmarked for the airport in Civil Aeronautics Administration budget in Washington is not known—it could be anything from $150,000 to $10,000—or maybe nothing by the time the budget cutting axe is done hewing.

The question of county aid from the County of Monroe may or may not go on the November ballot—for what purpose we are still at a loss—depending on whether Washington makes an appropriation and how much, and whether Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission sets aside some matching funds, and how much.

Did we see the chances are good for another Summer without landing facilities? Brother, we confess to coining a phrase which is the masterpiece of understatement.

A Belated Discovery

We wondered when Congress would get around to the matter of taking a dim view of providing free medical service to some veterans with big incomes and large property holdings. A committee finally has made the discovery that such is the case; that we have veterans with annual incomes of $50,000 and more and property worth a half million who are getting medical care from the Veterans Administration for disabilities or illnesses acquired long after they left service.

We are in favor of the best possible care for any veteran who suffered service disability. And free, of course. But when any veteran with a post-service injury or pain can turn up for free service we agree that it should be handled free of charge only if he is unable to pay. The V. A. has no way of testing to find out whether such a veteran is able to pay. All he does is report for care and say he can't afford to pay. The V. A. doesn't check up.

The fellow with a $50,000 income and large property holdings is a rare bird. There aren't many such in this region, yet taxpayers, and that's all of us, are helping to pay the bill for care of some individuals with that kind of money. Free medical care is never free. Someone must pay the doctor, and in this case that's us. We are opposed to socialized medicine, and what the V. A. is practicing in these cases is just that.

The administration in Washington should stop this wasteful practice. A careful system of checks should be instituted to keep the chiselers and deadbeats from living off the taxpayers.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

The New Weapon

Moscow is now throwing cocktail parties for Americans and other visitors, with Molotov attending and displaying great affability. This is the most dangerous development in the cold war. It may indicate that the Kremlin has come to recognize that the cocktail, as made these days, can be as devastating a weapon as the atomic bomb, and has decided to use it. We are informed that Russian spies have been studying American cocktail parties for the past few years, especially the Washington type, and have notified the Kremlin that they constitute a new mystery weapon.

Our secret investigator reports as follows: "I am positive the Russians are now using Moscow for a sort of Yucca Flat test of the American cocktail, with Russian improvements. During those cocktail parties just reported from Russia the witnesses put on dark glasses and watched results from trenches as a Soviet development of an American double martini was exploded close to a party of visiting American publishers. When the martini was detonated by Molotov, a great white cloud appeared and there were tremendous tremors. I have reports that one publisher came apart at the seams and that another was completely shattered."

We asked how long it was before the observers could enter the area where the double martini (Russian style) had been detonated and he replied that they waited 72 hours because some of the people exposed to them were still "martini-active." He added that the Russian martini is a much larger type than the American model and eliminates the olive in order to save space. "Do you think Russia has a stockpile of these cocktails?" we asked. "All I can say is that if she has we are sunk," he replied dimly.

The Commie hides his battle-

Behind his back and cries
"RELAX!" ...
I find I can't, and bolt the door. ...
I'm twice as nervous as before.

"Meet us halfway," pleads Mr. Vishinsky at U.N. ... But it is well to bear in mind that the Russian bear thinks: (1) it is a halfway meeting when the other fellow is making a 4,000 mile trip by dog sled and he is covering the distance by plane; (2) when he is fully dressed and out of the window in the fire and you are in your nightshirt groping for the fire escape; (3) when an opponent is on foot at the intersection and he is at the same point in a truck. ... Milwaukee is showing so much adulation for the former Boston Braves that it is a serious question whether the players can stand it. ... Even in their best seasons they never experienced similar love from Boston fans. ... In Milwaukee the rooters cheer errors and throw bananas for men left on bases. ... "Milwaukee Braves" isn't a good name and a new one is needed that will tie in with the brewery center. ... How about "The Brewmen," "Growlers" or perhaps "The Ambrosias"? ... Or even "The Burpers"? ... Incidentally, the Milwaukee pitchers should have no trouble getting "hops" on their fast ones. ... "Mr. Kite" won a recent race and was, of course, highstrung. ... Russia seems to have changed its theme song from "Gangway, ya big bum!" to "Shall we dance?"

Mr. Vishinsky's Invitation
Let's meet in the tunnel of friendship
And let our hearts beat pity-pat;
No matter what happens, remember,
That love, oh my sweet, is like THAT!

Scientists announce that a pill costing $4 has been developed that will save a man from radiation sickness following the fall of an atomic bomb, the "catch" being that it has to be taken just before such an attack. ... All that is needed now is a tablet or capsule that you can swallow and foresee the blow. ...

Robert S. Allen Reports

Free-For-All Is Developing Over Removal of Dr. Astin

Washington—The uproar over the ousting of Dr. Allen Astin, as director of the Bureau of Standards, is rapidly becoming a free-for-all.

At the rate the fray is mushrooming, a good part of the government may be involved by the time the Senate Small Business Committee opens its investigation next month. Latest to become embroiled are Budget Director Joseph Dodge and the Federal Trade Commission.

Neither had anything to do with Astin's explosive dismissal. But the Trade Commission, which has close ties with the Bureau of Standards, is angrily accusing Dodge of "pulling an Astin" on it. Reason for this unusual charge is a secret plan Dodge sprang on the Commission to slash $1,000,000 from its $5,500,000 budget.

That is an 18.2 percent cut, the biggest so far reported in the proposed Eisenhower budget. It exceeds by more than 3 percent the previous top reduction, of 15 percent, voluntarily proclaimed for the Commerce Department by Secretary Sinclair Weeks. The Bureau of Standards does a lot of investigational and research work for the Trade Commission, in its enforcement of the laws against monopoly and other unfair trade practices. A major project, pending before the Commission is a far-reaching study of what happens to the "consumer's dollar." Estimated cost of launching this survey is $185,000.

Rough and Ready—The Trade Commissioners are saying the main purpose of Dodge's drastic budget axing is to kill this plan and to limit their scope and effectiveness in anti-trust law enforcement.

Bitter complaints have been made against him on this score to the Senate Small Business Committee, and two of its members have privately promised to include a tough time. Of all of President Eisenhower's top lieutenants, the plain-talking Detroit banker is the only one who has made no effort to butter up Congress. He has heaved strictly to pruning the budget to the bone, and letting the chips fall where they may. That has won him no popularity laurels on Capitol Hill, but he has shown no signs of concern over that.

Some of the Trade Commissioners are also talking of going over Dodge's head and appealing directly to President Eisenhower. But they have had no luck on that so far because of inability to obtain a White House appointment. They lay that at Dodge's doorstep, too, but they are still trying.

Commissioner Stephen J. Spingarn has sent a sharp memorandum on the backstage battle to both the Senate investigators and the House Appropriations Subcommittee that handles the Trade Commission's budget. Highlight of this unpublished statement is as follows:

"The Commission has appealed this $1,000,000 reduction and asked for an opportunity to present its case for reconsideration personally to Budget Director Joseph Dodge. It has further voted to appeal to President Eisenhower if Mr. Dodge denies reconsideration. It has also asked Mr. Dodge to advise us in writing regarding his decision on our appeal from this drastic budget cut."

Former President Truman initiated the proposed "consumer dollar" study. In recommending it he declared:

"The consumer has a right to know who is getting his dollar. When he pays a certain price at a retail store, how much of that price does the retailer get? How much goes to the wholesaler? How much goes for transportation; how much did it cost to manufacture the product; and of the manufacturing cost, how much went to labor, for materials, for overhead, and in the case of food and other farm products, to the grower. ..."

"All this information would be highly useful to the businessman in running his operations more efficiently, in settling labor disputes, and in showing how much of the dollar that the consumer spends for food actually goes to the farmer."

Civil Defense—President Eisenhower is very concerned over reports he has received on the dangerous manner in which medical and other supplies are being stored by local civil defense authorities.

Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson disclosed this in a conference with state and city officials.

Peterson singled out Boston as a particularly bad example. The former Nebraska Governor told of discovering large quantities of drugs for civil defense purposes stored in one warehouse and in bulky crates that were unlabeled. "One atomic bomb would have wiped out $1,000,000 in medical supplies that were stored in that wholly unsatisfactory manner," Peterson told Governor Christian Herter (R., Mass.), "and those were the supplies that were for the purpose of taking care of casualties in Boston. It is things like that which are greatly disturbing the President. He knows about them and feels strongly such situations must be corrected immediately."

Herter promised to take corrective steps. Note: At Peterson's request, the FBI is checking reports that considerable amounts of civil defense medical supplies have been pilfered in certain areas.

Florida has the longest tidal shore line of any state in the United States.

Hard To Understand Race Absorbed Mind Centering All Morals On Human Treatment

Langston Hughes

Some people live negative lives. They must oppose or be opposed; they never see the strength of a way of life, only its weaknesses. Nothing is altogether perfect on Earth; yet all that matters to them are the imperfections. And when they finally discover that the faults they have overemphasized are not tremendous matters, only the natural reactions of humans who are not gods, they are shocked by their discoveries.

Langston Hughes is a poet of the Negro race who gained a large measure of praise and condemnation for his poetry. Like so many of the intellectuals of the 1930's, he moved into the Communist milieu. Now he is one of us again.

But what excites him is not our fundamental justice, or the regard for the individual in our Constitution, or the wonderful philosophy of the Declaration of Independence, or our high standards of life, or our achievements over 200 years of this continent.

What has taken him from Stalin and returned him to Uncle Sam is largely this:

"... in our own country, there has been, within the last ten years, certainly within the war period, a very great increase in the rate of acceleration of improvement in race relations. There has been a very distinct step forward in race relations, a greater understanding of the need for greater democracy for the Negro people, and then the recent Supreme Court decisions, which bolstered up the right to vote, the right to travel, and so on, have given me great heart and great confidence in the potentialities of what we can do here."

It is this question of race relations that is uppermost in his mind. It seems to be all that he can think of when he thinks of America. In a word, no matter what else is accomplished in American life, nothing counts but what the Negro believes is the attitude of the whites toward him.

I do not altogether blame Langston Hughes for this narrow point of view. It is a product of 20 years of a decided effort to fragment our people into mutually hating groups. By this theory of divide and conquer, the politicians anticipated that they could win elections. This misery is still with us in many parts of the country, particularly in the large cities of the North, where elections are won on every kind of an issue that is alien to the United States. Often city elections are won by an attitude toward events in Europe or Asia.

For instance, Roy Cohn, chief counsel for the McCarthy Committee asked Hughes:

"Have you received any disillusionment recently, concerning the treatment of minorities by the Soviet Union?"

And Hughes replied: "Well, the evidence in the press—I have not been there (in Russia), of course, myself—indicating persecution and terror against Jewish people, has been very appalling to me."

What about the Lithuanians, Poles, Transylvanians, Hungarians, etc., etc.? Persecution, genocide, mass murders, enforced mass migrations have been going on in many parts of the Soviet empire since 1920. Millions of Ukrainians, for instance, were starved to death to make Stalin's first Five Year Plan a success. That should have made an impression upon Langston Hughes even while he was in the party. Have not Ukrainians as much reason to live as anybody else?

It is difficult to understand the race-absorbed mind that centers all morals on the treatment of one person by another. The world is full of injustice but it is also full of justice and decency and fine people who help one another and attend to their own business without molesting anybody. Most Americans never get into trouble and never trouble anybody. Perhaps we emphasize our disorderly people in the press and radio, because they are so queer. Certainly for one Jelke, there are millions of boys his age who are at college, in the factory, or in the armed forces doing something decent and constructive and living peacefully, unnoticed lives.

I wonder what would happen to a man like Langston Hughes if he would try to forget that he is a Negro and if he would only think of himself as an American and a poet. His truly great gifts could then be employed constructively to rebuild a sense of patriotism and nationalism in our country. It might really change the world.

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

There IS something new under the sun, after all, and what is more, it is liable to revive an old trend in living.

We all remember stories of the times when a lot of bills were paid in trade. Farmers used to pay their newspaper subscriptions with a few heads of cabbage and three or four bunches of carrots thrown in for good measure.

I have heard stories of women going into their local store and buying dresses and hats with vegetables. Nowadays the vegetables are worn ON the hat.

Now comes a Miami Beach judge and awards $15 weekly alimony to a local woman. As part of the alimony her husband, a butcher, is ordered to send five pounds of meat to his wife for the feeding of their two children.

The judge did not stipulate what quality or kind of meat he was to send. The wife, however, was agreeable.

"They are his children," she said, "and I assume he would not send them gristle."

It would be nice if we could apply the judge's idea to all of our modern life. The ancient barter system would be so much simpler than our present one with all its bookkeeping and involvements.

But unfortunately today's push button people haven't the stamina to raise their own produce. It's much easier to be awakened to the sweet notes of a musical radio alarm clock and take in the milk which the milkman left outside than to get up at five in the morning and milk the cows.

I would much rather have what it takes today to get by than what it took 85 years ago.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill made a talk to the British people the day after Queen Mary's death. In it he said:

"The chain which scientific invention and social change have wrought between 1867 (the year in which the Queen was born) and 1953 is so wide that it requires not only courage but mental resilience for those whose youth lay in calmer and more slowly moving times, in order that they may adjust themselves to the giant outlines and harsh structure of the 20th century."

Courage and mental resilience, Churchill said, are required.

That applies not only to those whose youth lay in calmer and more slowly moving times. It is required in ever growing measure by the youth of today.

In the old days there was the horse and buggy.

Today there is the automobile with its 100-mile-an-hour engine, with its thousands of parts, its intricate machinery and its constant need for concentration on the road.

And how many people have the "mental resilience" to cope with the terrific demands which our present times, with their almost daily new developments, make upon us?

No age has a patent on modernity. One of these days those who come after us will look upon our automobiles and our television sets as we of today look upon our ancestors' horse-and-buggy and Chie-Sales.

Courage and mental resilience will always have to be on the increase as Man progresses. Standing still is retrogression.

What if we ARE becoming a nation of neurotics? What if we do have heart attacks and nervous breakdowns? Haven't we at the same time new wonder drugs almost every day? And ever faster means of transportation and entertainment?

What if our accident rate increases with fearful rapidity and our lunatic asylums are filled to capacity?

"It's still great to be alive!"

Try and Stop Me

A farmer whose parents came from County Cork harvested such a fine crop of flax he held some aside to have a tablecloth made for his own use. When a lady from New York stopped off for dinner and admired the cloth he was mighty proud to say, "I grew the tablecloth myself, ma'am." "That's amazing!" exclaimed the lady. "How did you do it?" The farmer whispered, "Why, I just planted a napkin."

PORTRAIT OF A LADY

by Alice-Leone Moats

(Miss Moats has written numerous best sellers, including "A Violent Movement," "No Passport for Paris," "Blind Day with Mrs.," and "No New Girl Swears.")

With drawn teaspoons and to the sound of popping corks, a battle is being fought in Washington to decide who will win the title of leading hostess of the new administration.

Everybody with the slightest qualification for the crown is in the fray except the very one who could wear it with the greatest ease, grace and competence—Alice Roosevelt Longworth. She is deliberately standing to one side, watching the fun, but showing no inclination to exchange her old-fashioned wide-brimmed hats for any crown at all.

Such apathy towards becoming the ruler of society would be unusual anywhere. In the capital where most women are sooner or later brought to sofa with salon fever, it's downright eccentric.

The Republicans might even be justified in regarding Mrs. Longworth's attitude as subversive, for she could render the party an extraordinary service by establishing a salon in the classical tradition, creating a social climate with elements of dignity and cosmopolitanism.

She has the background, social training, intelligence, wit and vitality required for an outstanding hostess. Leading hostesses in previous administrations possessed all or some of these qualities. Yet they failed to rise out of the class of mere party givers because they didn't realize that the basic ingredients of a salon are personalities, not names; stimulating conversation, not shop talk.

Wholly concentrated on climbing the social ladder, or promoting their own or their husbands' political careers, or raising funds for a pet charity, they saw no profit in cluttering up their drawing rooms with intellectuals. Mrs. Longworth has no fish to fry and she is mentally equipped to appreciate intellectuals and their uses. She not only can read, she does read—anything from books on philosophy to religion, history, biography and fiction.

Her habit of saying exactly what she thinks is remarkably refreshing in a town where everybody is either afraid of being indiscreet or putting on an act of staggering under a load of top secrets. The famous malice is never directed against any one for snobbish reasons; it is a weapon to puncture the egos of the pompous, the pretentious and the phony.

In her late sixties, Mrs. Longworth is more than capable of meeting the young on their own ground, keeping up with them and often outstripping them in her enthusiasm and zest for life. She talks their language, uses their slang and they treat her as a contemporary while cautiously avoiding any undue familiarity.

No one of any age who values his teeth ventures to get flip with her. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. learned this the hard way when he remarked, "You know, dear Mrs. L., of all the friends you're disloyal to, I think you're the most disloyal to Bob Taft." With the bright laughter that comes into her amazingly blue eyes when she's hauling back for a hasty retreat, she retorted, "Of course, dear Cabot, and I hope it makes you happy to run him a close second."

Having no reason to go out except for her own amusement, she is one of the few notables in Washington classified as hard to get, and has consistently refused invitations from over-publicized newcomers whose kind of entertainments doesn't happen to entertain her.

On the other hand, she often shocks friends by receiving very odd characters and once when she was criticized for seeing a woman suspected of being a dangerous Communist she answered, "I know all about her and I don't doubt that she'll murder us in our beds one day, but she interests me."

It's her genuine interest in people of every type that makes her household exciting and adds a touch of the unexpected to her parties. There is never any telling who may be at her house; only one thing is certain—the guests will seem wittier, more charming than they do elsewhere.

As one woman put it, "Whenever I go to Alice's I meet some man with whom I'm sure it would be wonderful to drive into the sunset. Then, I meet him again somewhere else and I realize that I wouldn't want to drive across DuPont Circle with him."

She is expert at bringing all her guests in turn into the limelight and giving them a chance to do their stuff. There's none of that uncivilized routine of rapping a water glass and announcing "Now our friend Roland Schnukel will tell us about his experiences with the Unabombers." But at some point, within the framework of general conversation, Roland does tell his story.

It is all done so subtly that the technique doesn't show and at the end of the evening, each guest departs with the exhilarating conviction that he was the star of the occasion. In actual fact, of course, the star is invariably Mrs. Longworth.

Three County Motorists Hurt In Crash

Three Monroe County people were in "fair condition" at Easton Hospital yesterday following a crash at 6 p. m. Monday on Route 15 in Forks Township, north of Easton.

They were Miss Julia Nyce, 30, of 757 Main St., Stroudsburg, a senior visitor employed by the Department of Public Assistance; her mother, Mrs. Leola Nyce, 69, same address; and Roland H. Strien, 53, Seiota.

Miss Nyce suffered left leg fractures, head cuts, and shock; her mother had a broken right wrist, head cuts and shock; Strien suffered broken ribs and possible internal injuries.

Police said Strien was driving his auto north. He passed the light truck operated by Stewart Baby, Nazareth, police said, and collided with the southbound car driven by Miss Nyce.

The Nyce car was forced off the road. The impact spun the Strien car around.

Police quoted Miss Nyce's statement that she was driving about 45 miles an hour. Troopers said Strien will be charged with traveling on the wrong side of the road or passing in the face of oncoming traffic. Investigation is continuing.

Forgetful Vets Apply For Bonus

He blamed confusion over pending legislation to extend the time limit on World War II service bonus applications for the latest trouble.

weather breaks, construction firms will concentrate on completing their work.

With two inches of snow spread across the reservation here and a light sprinkling of snow falling yesterday, there was no indication when the ground would thaw to permit full scale operations.

Lt. Col. Charles S. Tucker, resident engineer, disclosed to a press conference there are about 700 employees working for construction firms now. He said the force would be augmented as soon as the weather clears.

One of the seven warehouses, each 200 by 1200 feet, already has been turned over to the Signal Corps, Col. Mack said. Within 10 days, he announced, three others will be released. Col. Mack also said he received word last week to have operations in motion by August 1, whereas previously the date was January 1.

Leonard Downs, superintendent for Consolidated Construction Co., said his firm is preparing to wind up the major portion of its $4,670,045 contract. According to Downs the steel is about 95 per cent complete and work is progressing on schedule.

YMCA Board May Award 3 Contracts

Contracts for the entire YMCA building program may be awarded by May 24 if the $350,000 campaign goal is met.

That was the conclusion last night of the Y board of directors meeting at the Penn-Stroud Hotel in Stroudsburg. At present, only contracts for the first phase of the building program have been awarded.

Originally the deadline for acceptance of bids on the remaining two phases was April 24. This date was extended to May 24.

The matter will be studied by the board at a special meeting on May 19. At that time success of the fund campaign will be reviewed, and a decision on bids will be considered.

This was the statement issued by the board as a body:

"The board of directors of the Monroe County YMCA at their regular meeting held April 14 went on record that due to the fact that the contractors have extended the date for the acceptance of their bids for the entire YMCA building project to May 24 it is the belief of the board that if the campaign is successful in the amount of $350,000 in bona fide pledges the contracts can be awarded on or before May 24 for the entire project.

"At the present time the contract has been awarded for one of the three units and work is underway. A special board meeting has been set for Tuesday, May 19, for further consideration."

Board members also adopted a tentative budget for Y operations for the year but did not disclose the amount.

Craft shop attendance has been greater than during any previous year, directors were told.

Presiding for the first time in 1953, was Dayton Frankenhild, board president. Mr. Frankenhild had been ill.

Depot Outlines Hiring Procedures For Civilians

Tobyhanna—A three-phase program of civilian hiring for the U. S. Signal Corps depot here was outlined yesterday morning to representatives of press and radio assembled for the first press conference with the recent arrival of Clyde Burke, public information officer.

With 3,500 civilians to be employed under Civil Service by June 30, 1954, Col. William S. Mack, commanding officer explained the program and clarified hiring procedures under existing Civil Service regulations.

According to Col. Mack approximately 200 positions will be filled by June 30 of this year, augmenting the force for the first phase to 311. The second step from June 30 to January 1, 1954 will see the hiring of about 2,600 to 2,900 and the final phase takes the program to June 30, 1954 when the total of 3,500 will be enrolled.

During the past two years about 3,000 applications were filed by area people, Col. Mack said. These were submitted to him when he reported here March 1.

After contacting the Civil Service Commission in Washington, D. C., Col. Mack said, he learned they wouldn't accept applications over 60 days old. Applications were returned to the individuals, Col. Mack said, and since then about 100 persons have reported to the depot daily to inquire about jobs.

He advised all 3,000 who filed previously to resubmit their applications since the massive hiring is just getting under way. Applications are to be sent to the regional office of Civil Service in Washington and may be secured at local postoffices.

"We don't want to discourage people from coming here, however," Col. Mack said. He explained that while no opportunity for hiring exists at the depot itself, the service of counselors is always available.

The majority of civilian workers who run the depot here will come from the pool in this immediate area, Col. Mack stated. He explained that transfers by Civil Service personnel from other stations in the country are not contemplated, except in the case of key personnel who will be shifted here. This group, he said, represents about 180 people, 50 or 60 of whom will be here by July 1.

Asked what percentage of employees would be female, Col. Mack said about 30, basing the figures on the number of women employed at the Lexington, Ky., supply depot which has a total employment of 3,100.

Veterans have 10 points preference on the depot hiring in accordance with the Federal act of 1944, Col. Mack pointed out. Others will be rated in numerical order, in qualification requirement priority, and no workers will be sought outside the area until the local supply is exhausted.

General maintenance type work will represent about 30 per cent of the total employment roll. Particular emphasis was placed on repairmen with a knowledge of electronics.

Col. Mack also disclosed a U. S. Civil Service Board of Examiners will be established at the depot after May 1. This board will examine specialized and technical jobs and hire on the basis of employment needs. Applications are to be mailed to the commanding officer here after a public announcement is made that such positions are open.

Quality Paint Pays Dividends In Long Run

Painting houses at this time of year rivals baseball as the national pastime. You probably have neighbors staging painting bees, with relatives lending a hand to give the old mans a new look. And around town you see the number of people having their houses freshened up with new paint—enough to make any man want to get in and pitch.

Well, this spring paint-up, clean-up, fix-up custom probably was promoted primarily by the paint manufacturers. If so, we ought to take our hats off to them. Maybe their bright idea doesn't give us as much fun wielding a paint brush with our pitching arm, but it certainly saves us a lot of hard earned cash by keeping the rain from rotting us out of house and home.

Giving the devil his due, you have to admit that the paint makers have greatly improved their product over the paint Grandpa used to use. Even though no paint will last forever, and the best will fall if they aren't put on right, modern house paints at least give far better service than paints gave a half century ago. This has been shown by government tests.

Don't get the notion that the paint dealer is trying to "sell" you something when he urges you to spend a little more money for quality paint. The difference in price between what the trade calls "painters' lines" and top grade durable paints amounts to chicken feed. The "painters' lines" are manufactured to meet price competition. You can't expect them to come up to durable standards.

Figure it out for yourself. The biggest cost in painting your house is labor—the work of preparing the surface and applying the paint. While the whole job of painting your house will amount to several hundred dollars, the cost of the paint itself is only a fraction.

The average small house may call for eight or ten gallons of paint. The difference in cost between cheap paint and good quality paint runs no more than a dollar or two per gallon. It's certainly short-sighted to skimp on this difference when you figure the durability involved.

As for the labor costs, you know how times have changed. You ask and get more for your time than before World War II, and so do the painters. The only way you can save on this labor cost is to have the job yourself in the right way at the right time.

Gambling on the weather is a big factor in a house painting job. Wood siding and trim has to be dry. If you have rain, you ought to wait for at least a week of sunny weather before you start to paint. Then it is best not to start the job if the weather is damp, foggy or cold. The temperature shouldn't be below 50, say the experts.

Two or three days should be allowed for drying between coats in clear warm weather—more time in damp or cold weather. Yet more than two weeks between coats is not considered good practice, since excessive drying can be as bad as not enough drying.

Many readers tell about paint failures. You can't expect the best paint to hold when water gets behind it. Moisture in a wall, whether from leakage or indoor vapor pressure, will push any paint off in blisters.

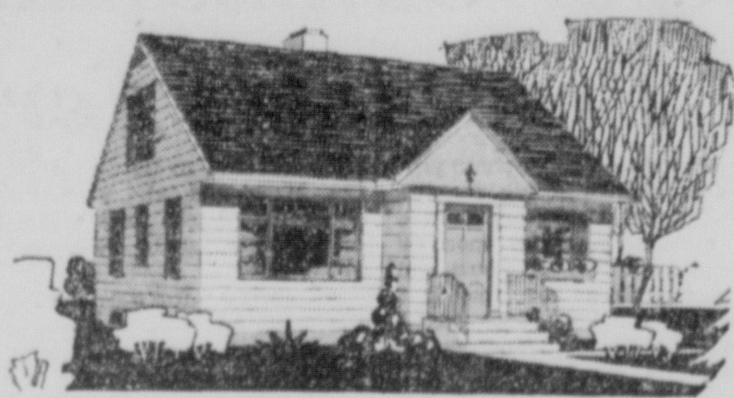

This is especially noticeable in spring thaws after hard winters. Condensation blisters will be the most common on cold north walls of heated rooms—rarely appearing on unheated porch or garage walls.

Another form of paint failure is peeling, cracking or scaling, with no blisters. If this is not obviously caused by over-painting and appears only on south walls exposed to sunlight, it can be taken as a sign of poor quality paint.

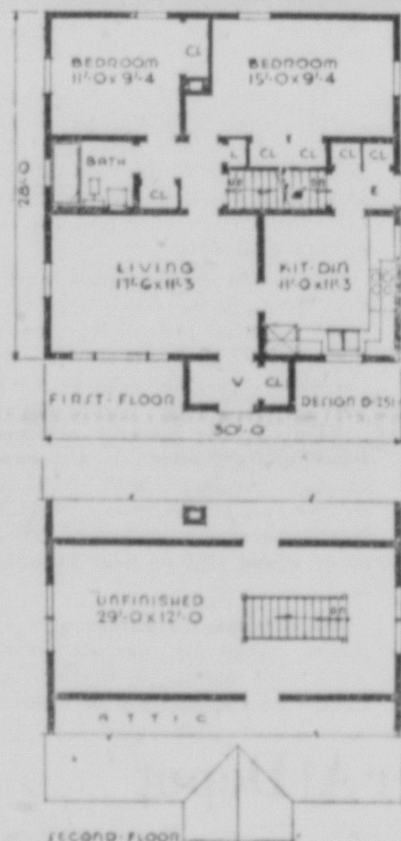

Since Grandpa's day, there has been much evolution in the making of paint. From pure white lead pigments in raw linseed oil, paint went through a period of substituting zinc oxide. This was done to combat the bad effects of hydrogen sulphide fumes. When it was carried too far, house paint became brittle.

Then titanium dioxide got the limelight because it takes a lot of diluting. But when it was over-used, paint lacked durability.

Recently the paint makers have struck a happy medium by producing lead-zinc-titanium paints. The result is paint can breathe. As it wears, it gradually chalks away, cleaning itself. With proper application, it is free from the faults developed by previous types.

Here's How To Estimate Board Feet

In estimating the board feet of hardwood flooring required for a room, allowance must be made for the fact that flooring, like other lumber products, is dressed down from the rough size on which its normal dimensions are based.

It therefore is necessary to add a percentage to the amount which otherwise might cover a given space. With tongue and grooved strip flooring, the kind used most extensively, allowance also must be made for the surface width which is lost in milling the tongue edges.

A simple procedure is to find the area in square feet of the space to be covered. Then add to it the percentage which applies for the size flooring desired. This information can be obtained from any lumber dealer or hardwood flooring contractor. If oak in the popular 25-32-inch by 2 1/2-inch size is to be used, for example, add 33 1/2 per cent. Thus a 12 by 15 foot room would require 180 plus 60 or 240 board feet. An additional 5 per cent allowance for possible waste is generally recommended.

Remove Loose Bristles

Loose bristles frequently found in new paint or varnish brushes may be removed easily by tapping the brush gently against the hand and twisting it rapidly between the palms. Any loose bristles which appear in the process can then be pulled out. Finally, the bristles should be combed straight.

Patching Insulation

Holes and cracks in insulation over pipes and boilers can be patched with a little asbestos cement. Wet down the edge of the opening before applying the patch.

Prevents Tarnishing

Copper gutters and flashing can be kept from tarnishing by coating them with spar varnish or clear lacquer. Spar varnish usually is very satisfactory.

Where To Put Doors Is Vital In Home Plan

In the designing of small homes, the location and number of doors are important, since the arc of the swing is wasted area.

Where there are too many doors, the owner is likely to be confronted with a serious problem of furniture arrangement. It should also be remembered that the more doors a room contains, the more through traffic it will have.

Wherever possible, doors should be located in corners so they will swing through an arc of only 90 degrees and thus use a minimum of floor area.

The location of doors in a small house is even more important when living space must be used also as a passageway, according to officials of the Federal Housing Administration. For convenient passage, space must be preserved free from furniture.

When doors leading to rooms between which there is frequent communication are placed diagonally opposite, the location of furniture for greatest use and convenience is made difficult or impossible.

The livability of the house is then greatly reduced. This may be avoided at the time the house is planned by locating doors in adjacent walls and as near the corners as possible, or an arrangement of doors which permits use of one end of the room for circulation purposes.

Dining Room Color Schemes

If you want to get away from traditional color schemes in your dining room, one decorator suggests the use of blue-green and ivory with antique red mahogany furniture, cherry and soft gray with dark brown walnut furniture, and practically any tints of your choice if your furniture has a blond finish.

With pickled pine or maple furniture, grayed blues or greens are suggested.

Each dining room should be carefully studied before the final selection of colors is made.

Chas. J. Vogt & Sons Has Package Plan For Kitchen Remodeling

A new package service that makes kitchen remodeling easier for homeowners is catching on nationally, according to Chas. J. Vogt & Sons Plumbing and Heating Co.

About 10% of the county's plumbers are now set up to provide this new service Vogt estimated. It is feasible because these plumbing and heating contractors operate retail stores, which display and sell a complete line of major home appliances in addition to plumbing equipment.

"Our own organization, for example, takes over the entire kitchen remodeling problem," Vogt said. "We begin with the planning stage and see the work through completion."

"After the homeowner's ideas are worked out in detail, with our specialized planning aids, he can select matched appliances and fixtures from a complete display in one store."

"Installation-wise, we arrange everything, including carpentry, painting and electrical work. The homeowner has none of the headaches of dealing with and supervising a group of contractors and dealers. He gets one price and looks to one responsible dealer."

Mr. Vogt explained that the package service has become popular with homeowners also because it allows more convenient and economical financing. One monthly payment covers the complete package.

Petitioners Question School Board's Action In Entering Pleasant Valley Jointure

Action of Hamilton Township school directors in entering the Pleasant Valley jointure was "questioned" this week at the board's meeting by a group of township residents.

At the monthly meeting of the school board Milo Howell, Saylorsburg, presented a petition signed by 353 residents.

Said the petition: "We the undersigned taxpayers of Hamilton Township . . . question the action of the Hamilton Township School Board joining with Ross, Eldred, Polk and Chestnut Hill school districts in regards to the proposed consolidated Pleasant Valley High School."

"We therefore ask and petition the Hamilton Township School Board to place before the voters of Hamilton Township on a ballot the following question . . ."

The question which the petitioners want placed on the ballot was worded in this manner:

"Should Hamilton Township School District join with Ross, Eldred, Polk and Chestnut Hill . . . in building a new high school?"

Presentation of the petition was made late in the board's regular meeting by Howell, who was joined in floor discussion of the issue with the board by Roy Van Buskirk, formerly a member of the Hamilton board.

Hamilton board member Thomas Rogers, who is also president of the Pleasant Valley Joint School Board, volunteered as a one-man committee to "furnish the petitioners with answers to their questions as soon as possible."

A spokesman for the board yesterday pointed out that jointure is not required to come before a vote by ballot.

Only "merger" or "union" districts proposals must be placed on the ballot, the spokesman said.

(The merger or union district differs primarily from the jointure system in that merger or union boards do not retain the individual township boards which function under jointure. This difference means, basically, that the "township school board" ceases to exist, as such. Directors are then elected by township residents to serve on the one, central merged board.)

Early portion of the monthly board meeting was devoted largely to reports from two board members.

John Van Buskirk reported the results of a committee study made by himself and Alfred Kresge of teachers for Hamilton's new elementary school building which will be ready for occupancy for the Fall 1953 term.

The committee recommended that the board keep all nine teachers currently employed by it, thereby "providing two sections of first grade for next year, since enrollment will be at least 43 pupils."

Elwood Haney reported on a job conference regarding the work at the new school site near Sciota.

Prices Cut For Larger Sizes Of Coal

Anthracite mining companies have posted spring reductions in the price of coal.

This year's pattern differs from those of preceding years.

Heretofore, cuts have been made on virtually all sizes.

This year, Glen Alden Coal Co. announced reductions of $1 to $1.60 a ton on the four large sizes of coal—pea, chestnut, stove and egg.

and announced increases of 30 cents a ton on the smaller sizes—buckwheat, rice and barley. The small sizes generally are used in stokers.

Lehigh Valley Coal Co., Hudson

Coal Co., and the Moffatt Coal Co. have announced corresponding price reductions effective yesterday.

Dr. Harold S. Pond will be out of town April 12 to April 20.—Adv.

Beverly Robinson, for many years a truck-farmer who served Gap patrons, commemorated a date important to him Saturday. It marked 42 years since he left his Shenandoah Valley home in Virginia. He has seen many changes in the Gap since he started here by working for Peter Johnson, of the Glenwood House, and then Howard Croasdale, of River Farm Manor. Robinson attends the Methodist Church and his singing of quaint, old hymns has brightened the hours for many shut-ins. His neighbors across the valley still listen to hear "When The Roll Is Called Up Yonder" as he sits by his farmhouse door in the twilight. Mr. and Mrs. John James visited Mrs. Deal Mundine, all of Muncy, Pa., over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Ellis entertained Mr. and Mrs. Mervin

Miss Sabetti, A. Casciano Are Married

Bangor — Miss Rose Marie Sabetti, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Sabetti, of Roseto became the bride of Anthony Casciano Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Casciano, of Bangor on Sunday, April 12, at 11 a.m. at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church.

Rev. John Walsh, CM, performed the ceremony. Miss Theresa Capozzolo was vocalist and Mrs. Thomas Ronco was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of nylon tulle with a coat of satin and lace. Her French illusion veil fell from a crown of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of white roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Miss Catherine Cerino as maid of honor, wore a dress of green nylon tulle and lace with matching hat and carried yellow roses and lily. The bridesmaids, Miss Judith Sabetti, sister of the bride, and Miss Louise Capobianco, a niece, wore dresses of yellow nylon tulle with lace, and matching hats. Their bouquets were of tea roses and lily.

Basile De Imperio of Roseto was best man, and the ushers were Matthew Giovannini and Michael Renaldi.

The reception was held at the Blue Valley Auditorium.

Both the bride and the bridegroom are graduates of Bangor High School. A veteran of the Korean combat, Mr. Casciano is now employed by the L.N.E. Railroad.

After a wedding trip to Washington, D.C. they will make their home at 414 Pennsylvania Ave., Roseto.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

I've always sympathized with the mother in the song "Call Me Early, Mother Darling, for I'm To Be Queen of the May". I can just see the mother working all night long putting the last ruffles on the May Queen's gown and then getting up before dawn to get the lazy thing a good hot breakfast so she could go tripping through the day.

However, at least she knows what she's doing. A mother of a boy on the morn of the first day of fishing season can add bewilderment to the extra chores. These involve holding a spool of fishing line while he winds the reel; looking high and low for his "grizzling hackle" or whatever it was he called that infinitesimal bit of hook and feathers.

Then you finally get him off looking quite like the White Knight, with things dangling from his belt and his hat, and an assortment of poles sticking out like lances. The hip boots add to the illusion that if he ever fell down it would take a derrick to get him on his feet again.

Well, the forecast is fair and warmer and I presume that a boy who's earned his swimming badge will know how to get out of hip boots under water—I hope.

And just think we won't have to worry about meat for dinner tonight. Well, that's what the fishermen said. Lot more practical than queen-of-the-Maying, maybe.

Helen Ininger Working For High Honors

Chambersburg, Pa. — While continuing their liberal arts courses, five Wilson College seniors have been striving for honors in more specialized fields. Among these is Miss Helen Ininger, of East Stroudsburg. As a music major, she is working for honors in that department.

A candidate for honors in the music department is required to give a recital by memory. Miss Ininger fulfilled this first requirement in her junior year by presenting an organ concert to the college community.

She is also required to complete six hours of independent study during her senior year, at the end of which she must write a paper on her studies. The organ works of Bach have been chosen by Miss Ininger for her concentration of interest.

After completing these prerequisites, Miss Ininger's work will be judged by the head of the music department. She will be notified at graduation of the results of her study.

Working toward a career in the organ concert field, Miss Ininger has applied for a Fulbright Scholarship to Fontainebleau near Paris for post-graduate work. She may, however, take advanced study at the Eastman Conservatory in Rochester, New York.

During her college years, Miss Ininger has applied her study practically by accompanying the choirs of numerous Chambersburg churches.

Card Party Tonight

Tannersville — The Elsie Long-acre Rebekah Lodge will sponsor a card party on Wednesday, April 15, following the regular lodge meeting. There will be table prizes, and refreshments. The public is invited.

Wyckoff's is a department store . . . a friendly place to shop, in the hands of cordial people who are anxious to please. At least, that's how we want Wyckoff's to appear to you, the customer. But to those of us who work here, it is far more than that. It is our bread and butter, and is made up of thousands of details and objects that go into the highly detailed picture that makes a well-managed, progressive business.

I love Wyckoff's. Partly, I suppose, because it is my nature to be sincerely proud of, and devoted to, any organization by which I am employed . . . but mostly, I believe, because Wyckoff's has been part of my life since I toddled in with Mother more than thirty years ago. I'll have to be a lot older than I am today, before I forget the way the store looked way back when I bought my first lipstick from Millie Von Brock. I can still remember when the pattern counter was right about where aprons are sold today and Mary Ruth was one of our favorite clerks . . . or when Margaret Oldford sold lace collars at a counter situated in what is now the Hat Bar.

I remember when art goods were sold down near the present handbag department, and Laura Fabel sold Munsingwear, or some such thing, in a rather dark corner that is today forsythia yellow and the location for cosmetics. While I'm treading Memory Lane, I can even remember the Saturday morning Sewing Classes when I was five or so. I don't suppose Mary Keiper ever dreamed, in those bygone days that she'd be returning to Wyckoff's to instruct—but she is now teaching knitting here every Tuesday through Friday afternoon.

Oh, there's far more to Wyckoff's than the customer realizes. There are countless hidden halls, tunnels and niches, where stock is piled high, and where people are busy doing all the ordering, ticketing, cleaning, painting, and writing that go into the stocking and presentation of merchandise. The very sounds that are part of the eternal movement and progress are something of a symphony in themselves . . . the ringing of bells summoning this person or that, the thump and trundle of the cart loaded with incoming items . . . the laughter and chatter that go along with the day's work . . . the peckity-peck of the typewriter . . . the cash register's clang . . . the jangling telephones . . . the jerky-twang of the adding machine . . . the cheery greeting of the switchboard operator . . . the businesslike roar of the hair dryers . . . and, at the end of the day, the chiming that sounds goodnight. (To say nothing of the out-rushing feet, and the deafening silence that follows!)

So much goes into the making of a truly fine store. When Wyckoff's is deserted except for the watchmen and a few stragglers, one realizes this. So much!—even the waxen mannequins keeping vigil through the night.

Unless something is done soon, educational television is going to be dealt quite a blow by the failure of a regeneration of the channels set aside by the FCC for non-commercial use. The FCC has now decided to allow a new class of channels, known as "educational," to be used by educational institutions. This is a good thing, but it is also a double-edged sword. The FCC has also decided to allow the use of the 242 available channels for non-commercial use. This is a good thing, but it is also a double-edged sword.

have been applied for and the FCC has granted 14 of the applications. If the others are not asked for by June 2, the channels will be thrown open to commercial competition.

Speaking of competition, Hollywood is looking to 3-dimensional films to offset the impact of video . . . but television may counter with its own 3-D effects. Natural Vision, which is doing 3-D films for a movie company, also has a TV presentation attached (about $15) which would enable a set owner to get the 3-D effect, using polaroid glasses, when two images would be superimposed electronically in the TV control room. We don't have 3-dimensional TV yet, but the networks are working on it.

Color TV, however, is many years off. H. L. Hoffman, a member of the executive committee of the Radio Television Manufacturers Association, says: "We're making a lot of laboratory progress in color TV, but such problems as development of a good tri-color viewing tube will keep it off the market for at least three or four years." So don't wait any longer, if you're still without TV, or if you've been thinking of getting a bigger screen set. Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Baseball hits Monroe County for the first time this season today, when East Stroudsburg State Teachers College battles Panzer College, on the latter's home field in East Orange, N. J. East Stroudsburg High school also sends its diamond organization against other opposition for the first time, when the Cavaliers play host to Pocono High, at East Stroudsburg. The Eastburg-Pocono contest is only of the practice variety.

Stroudsburg's Biddy Basketball team must feel pretty good at this time. The Stroudsburg club lost to Norristown in the regional Biddy Basketball Tournament at Scranton recently. Norristown advanced to the final round of the National Tournament before bowing to Peoria, Ill., 57-54. Two members of the Norristown cage machine were named to the All-American Biddy Basketball squad. Joe Batisto, former Stroudsburg High mound ace, is listed on the Pocono A. C. diamond roster at the present time. Batisto is a resident of Mt. Pocono.

Bob "Willie" Ellenberger, young southpaw pitcher who made his baseball mark with Stroudsburg High, Saylorsburg and Pocono A. C., is now battling to become an air cadet at Sampson, N. Y. Dick Schaller, hard hitting first baseman for Pocono A. C. during the past two campaigns, is trying to land a position on the Camp Breckenridge, Kentucky, baseball team at the present time. Schaller is also a graduate of Stroudsburg High. Dick also attended East Stroudsburg State Teachers College for two years.

Nick Zito, president of the State Belt Hot Stove League and one of Bangor's leading baseball fans, recently moved his barber shop from South Bangor to his home up on Market St. Joe Bucher, who took care of the social end of Monday's Hot Stove League meeting, is a red-hot Brooklyn fan. It appears as if a real full-scale feud is about to break out between two clubs in the Blue Mountain League. It's all over players.

I think it just as well that the Blue Mountain League operate with six clubs this year. Before East Bangor dropped out of the loop on Monday, the league was planning to open the season with seven entries. That odd club always finds a way to become a burden. East Bangor was undecided about entering a team in the Blue Mountain League last year, but Monday's withdrawal of the seventh team came as a surprise, it appears as if the Blue Mountain League is on a solid footing for the first time this spring. The circuit opens its gates on Sunday, May 10.

When Toledo optioned Harry Warner, Redders, to Atlanta, Toledo manager Tommy Holmes didn't know anything about the switch until he read about it in the papers that morning. Orders must have come directly from Milwaukee. Remember what I said about making a team in spring training? Even if a player has a good spring he doesn't make the club, unless of course he was included in pre-training plans. Warner was hitting .468 when optioned to Atlanta. Harry played one game with the Crackers, going hitless in three times at bat against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The next day the former Pocono High athlete found himself on the way to Jacksonville, of the class "A" South Atlantic League. When Harry reached Jacksonville he was reunited with two Evansville, Three-I League, teammates of last year. The two, Horace Garner and Felix Mantilla, had received spring trials with Toledo, American Association, but were optioned directly to Jacksonville. "Chuck" Quimby, third baseman for Bangor during a portion of the 1950 North Atlantic League season, has signed to pilot Fort Walton, a new entry in the Alabama-Florida League.

Quimby managed Statesboro, in the Georgia State League, last season. Leonard "Chip" Wile, ace pitcher with Berwick, North Atlantic League, also in 1950, was recently sent by Columbus, O. American Association, to Albany, Ga., training base for the St. Louis Cardinal farm clubs, for assignment. Prentice "Pidge" Browne, combination outfielder-first baseman with Peelskill, for two North Atlantic League campaigns, was included in the same shipment. John "Bubba" Phillips, hard hitting right fielder for the Stroudsburg Poconos in 1948, is one of the stars on the Fort Jackson, S. C. baseball team.

Phillips is the property of the Detroit Tigers and played at Buffalo, International League, last season. Jim Lemon will wear number 17 for the Cleveland Indians this season, while Carl "Swish" Sawatski carries number 15 for the Cubs and Danny O'Connell wears number 10 for Pittsburgh. All three are graduates of Bloomington, N. J., once an entry in the class "D" North Atlantic League.

White Plains, N. Y., (AP)—Eddie Compo, 131½, New Haven, out-slated Jimmy Wilde, 136, New York, last night in the feature bout of eight rounds at Westchester County Center.

Mountaineers To Play At Tannersville On Friday

DeHaven, Williams Made Captains

Stroudsburg High will play its first 'home' baseball game of the season on the Pocono High school field, in Tannersville, on Friday, it was announced last night by Jerry Stulgaitis, diamond-mentor at the W. Main St. school.

Catsaqua, the team that Stroudsburg beat out for the Lehigh Valley League championship in a special playoff last season, will supply the opposition on Friday, at 4 p.m.

Gordon Giffels field is currently having its face lifted and work on the infield won't be completed by gametime Friday. The infield is being resurfaced and the bleachers are being pulled into permanent positions at the present time.

Contacts
Stroudsburg authorities contacted Catsaqua yesterday, but the Rough Riders are also without a playable home field at the present time. Catsaqua doesn't play a home game for two weeks and the pitching mound hasn't been put into position, although the Brown and White color bearers have been able to use the field for practice sessions.

The East Stroudsburg State Teachers College field was unavailable, due to heavy use by college teams.

Harry Werkheiser, Pocono High coach, agreed to allow Stroudsburg and Catsaqua play on the Tannersville field. Werkheiser has called off his after-school practice on Friday.

Stulgaitis also announced last night that the Mountaineers had elected Layton DeHaven and Floyd "Willie" Williams as co-captains for the coming campaign. DeHaven is opening his third season as first string catcher, while Williams is starting his fourth campaign of varsity baseball.

Bratton Wins Over Wilson

Chicago, (AP)—Johnny Bratton, 149, Chicago, won a unanimous decision over Al "Sugar" Wilson, 143, Englewood, N. J., last night in the feature 10-rounder at Ridgewood Grove.

Wilson was the aggressor throughout the bout, but he had trouble getting inside Bratton, and all three officials gave the Chicagoan a healthy margin.

Judges Bobby Dawson and Charley Shortell each had Bratton winning six rounds, Wilson three and called one even. Referee Harry Kessler had it 7-2-1 for the winner.

Best Rounds
Bratton's best rounds were the sixth and 10th when he beat a steady tattoo on Wilson. But otherwise, he spent most of his time ducking and sidestepping Wilson's leads.

Bratton used a boxing style rather than his powerful right which knocked out his last two opponents. He created the impression that he could connect with Wilson any time he pleased.

Eastburg, Pocono In Practice Tilt
Pocono and East Stroudsburg High schools will clash in a practice baseball game today, at East Stroudsburg Playground. The game is slated for 3:30 p.m.

Substitutes
Both teams are expected to substitute freely through the course of the game.

Montreal Triumphs, 7-3

Boston, (AP)—Montreal idol Maurice "The Rocket" Richard scored three for Canadians as they virtually clinched the Stanley Cup last night by defeating the Boston Bruins, 7-3, to take a three games to one lead in the National Hockey League's best-of-seven final series.

Pitt Power Decides, 36-6
Pittsburgh (AP)—The University of Pittsburgh's baseball team went on a scoring spree yesterday and defeated Indiana State Teachers College 36-6. Pitt tallied 15 runs in the first inning, mixing solid base hits with five Indiana errors.

Kellner Blanks Yanks For A's

New York, (AP)—Lefty Alex Kellner blanked the world champion New York Yankees on five singles yesterday, 5-0, as the Philadelphia A's rocked Vic Raschi, their old jinx, for homers by Ray Murray and Allie Clark to ruin the Yanks' opening bid for a fifth straight pennant.

The A's blasted Raschi for seven hits in his six-inning stay. Included were the two homers and doubles by Dave Philley and Kellner.

Third Shutout
It was only the third shutout in the big league career of the 29-year-old Kellner, one last year and one in 1951. But he held the Yanks in the palm of his hand all day to the surprise of 23,534 half-frozen customers.

Philley led the A's with a double and two singles while Joost scored three runs and Clark drove home three. It was the first opening day loss for the Yanks since 1947 and the A's first opening victory in five years.

Curtis Named President Of Stroudsburg Little League; Metropoulos To Represent Players

T. Manning "Cap" Curtis, athletic director at Stroudsburg High School, was elected president of the Stroudsburg Little League last night, during the course of a meeting at the Monroe County YMCA.

Max D. Stadfeld, manager of Penney's store, was named vice president for the coming campaign. John R. Wilson was re-elected to the office of secretary and Edward R. Lawson was returned to the office of treasurer for another season.

Bidding for the various players will take place on Monday, June 1, with the opening of the season listed for Tuesday, June 16.

George Metropoulos, athletic director at the Monroe County YMCA, was named players agent for the coming season.

Saturday, May 9 was set for the first call for candidates, with all hopeful players between the ages of eight and 12 asked to report to the field at 9:30 a.m. Each player will be covered by insurance.

Harold Storm

Storm To Head Service Club Bowling

Lions Club, title holder in the Service Club Bowling League for the season just completed, was honored last night at a bowling banquet held at the Elks Home, East Stroudsburg.

The Lions won all team honors in the circuit this season and also brought down two individual honors.

Harold Storm, elected to fill the office of league president next year, won high triple score laurels with a 583, while Lion teammate Harold L. Miller rolled high single of 246.

High Average
Warren Mikels finished the campaign with a high average of 168.44, and also had high average for spares, 4.81. Graydon Huffman had high average strikes with a 3.28 mark. Both Mikels and Huffman are members of Rotary.

John Walek, Exchange Club, had high average split, 1.54, while teammate Raymond Alleger had high average of misses, 5.52.

Dr. T. I. Metzgar, president of the league during the past campaign, presented the awards.

Members of the two winning Lions teams are Bill Rogalski, Larry Levy, Tony Quarasino, Claude Heller, Storm, Ed Magann, Ted Kaufman, George Costenbader, Larry DePue, Bill Rusk and Miller.

George Ockershausen, wrestling and baseball coach at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, was the featured speaker. Ockershausen, who is also assistant football mentor at ESSTC, gave a talk and demonstration on college wrestling.

Joe Myers and Jim Revello, members of the ESSTC wrestling contingent, assisted their coach in the demonstration.

MacPhail Barred From Bowie Track

Baltimore, (AP)—Larry MacPhail was barred temporarily yesterday from the Bowie race track, of which he is president for "conduct detrimental to racing."

Order

The Maryland Racing Commission ordered the stormy sports figure "suspended from privileges" of the track pending a hearing April 23.

The hearing will be on charges resulting from what Eldred Rinehart, commission chairman, described as "an incident in the club house last Saturday."

Same Old Story--Dodgers Win On Black's Relief Work

Brooklyn, (AP)—Brooklyn and Pittsburgh inaugurated a brand new season yesterday but it was the same old story as the defending National League champions spotted the Pirates a four-run lead and came on to win, 8-5.

Giants Too Tough For Roberts, 4-1

By Ralph Bernstein

Philadelphia, (AP)—The New York Giants continued their strange mastery over one of baseball's great pitchers yesterday by thumping Robin Roberts and the Philadelphia Phillies for a 4-1 opening day victory at Connie Mack Stadium.

Right-hander Larry Jansen, who hadn't pitched more than six innings all spring, went the rout for New York allowing six hits, striking out five and walking two. The right-hander was in real trouble only once, in the third inning, when the Phillies loaded the bases twice but could manage only one run.

Skipper Leo Durocher's club now has knocked off Roberts 12 times and lost to him seven.

The Giants added another run in the third when Dark doubled off the leftfield wall, moved to third on Thomson's infield hit and scored on Monte Irvin's long fly to center.

New York scored its final run in the fourth on a single by Wes Westrum, a sacrifice by Jansen, and Williams' pitch to right.

Gavilan Wins On Split Decision

Cleveland, (AP)—Welterweight Champion "Kid" Gavilan ran into unexpected opposition in tough Livio Minelli of Italy last night and barely managed to eke out a split decision in their 10-round bout in Cleveland Arena.

The champion, making his first start since scoring a technical knockout over "Chuck" Davey in their title bout in Chicago last February, weighed 152 to 151 for the hard-hitting and game Italian battler.

Scoring
Referee Jackie Davis scored 6-4 in favor of Gavilan, Judge Charlie Bill ruled 4-6 in favor of Minelli and Judge Herb Williams 5-4-1 in favor of Gavilan.

The verdict brought a mighty roar of protest from the crowd that lasted for several minutes.

Weather Hurts Attendance Marks

New York, (AP)—Adverse weather from snow which forced postponement of the Boston Red Sox-Washington Senators American League game at Boston to cold and windy conditions limited attendance to 164,465 in yesterday's major league games.

Estimates
Original attendance estimates were for some 220,000 to sit in on the eight contests scheduled yesterday and last night.

ESSTC, Panzer In Baseball, Tennis Battles

East Stroudsburg State Teachers College opens its baseball and tennis seasons today, when the Warriors invade the home domain of Panzer College, in East Orange, N. J. Both events are scheduled to get underway at 2:30 p.m.

Coach George Ockershausen has nominated Bob Mellman, lanky right-hander, to do the pitching for the diamond Warriors, with Hobart "Hobe" Hutchins behind the plate.

Ockershausen also listed the remainder of today's starting team and the batting order.

The opening array will feature Bill Herring on first base; Jim Passaro, second base; Harold "Hal" Sisco, third base; Lyle Krall, shortstop; Bill Shires, right field; Bill Antoine, center field; Art Schaare, left field; Mellman, pitcher, and Hutchins, catcher.

If Mellman should need help on the hill, Lloyd "Sonny" Woodling and Passaro will be ready for mound duty. Woodling is also scheduled to open Saturday's contest against Kutztown.

Tennis

Coach Frank Grimm announced a tennis tentative starting lineup last night, although the ESSTC net squad has been hampered in practice by inclement weather.

Grimm nominated Don Toth for the number one singles department, while the remaining singles berths will be filled in order by the following men: Craig Leatherman, Joe Maiorillo, Carson Deffinbaugh, Carlton Lutz and Bill Maiorillo.

The doubles pairing will feature Joe Maiorillo and Toth as the number one doubles contingent, with Leatherman and Bill Maiorillo forming the second doubles team.

Grimm was undecided on his third doubles squad, but figured that it would feature Deffinbaugh and Dick McDonough or Lutz.

The ESSTC baseball and tennis teams will return to action on Normal Hill on Saturday, with Kutztown providing the opposition at 2 p.m. in both sports.

Vejar Earns Nod Over Cimmino

Cleveland, (AP)—Chico Vejar, the New York drama student, found the going rough in the early rounds last night, but came back to win a unanimous 10-round decision over Tony Cimmino, a hard-hitting campaigner with a tremendous heart.

First Meeting
Vejar, who won a split decision over the Bayonne, N. J., battler in a terrific bout in Johnstown, Pa., two months ago, weighed 152 to 150 for Cimmino.

Vejar had trouble finding the range in the early rounds against the aggressive New Jersey battler, but he began banging in hooks in the fourth round and from then on forged steadily ahead.

Indians Down White Sox On Lemon's One-Hit Performance

Cleveland, (AP)—Bob Lemon, the highest priced pitcher in baseball, hurled a one-hitter—Minnie Minoso's first inning single—yesterday as the Cleveland Indians won their opener from the Chicago White Sox, 6-0. Lemon helped put the frosting on the cake with a homer of his own, giving 53,698 fans an extra thrill.

Morse Absent; Consent Granted
Washington, Apr. 15.—Sen. Wayne Morse (Ind.-Ore.) left the Senate chamber for a while yesterday and three fellow senators swiftly took advantage of his absence.
They asked for and got a unanimous consent for their committee to hold some meetings during the next few days or two weeks while the Senate is itself in session. Morse has been blocking this unanimous consent whenever it was requested.

Good-Natured Rivalries Highlight YMCA Campaign
Though the YMCA $350,000 fund campaign is "a very serious and important" one, a Y official said yesterday, it is "not without its good humored rivalries."
Symbolic awards are made at each report meeting, he explained. A flag is placed on the table of the high division; a shoe sole with a hole in it, called the "sole of honor," is placed on the table of high team, the official continued. On the other hand a bottle of horse liniment is presented to the low section and a piece of cheese to the low division. Awards are made by hostesses.
A special challenge—with a special prize—was made to the high division, (Max Stadfeld's Division Eight) by the low division, Dr. Gail Fegley's Division Four. Aim: To achieve the highest score between the first and second report meetings. The prize—decided upon without consulting co-chairman Holt Wyckoff: The necktie of Holt Wyckoff.

Exchange Selects Major Adam For Golden Deeds Award

Club To Honor Salvation Army Worker May 25

Major May R. Adam of the Salvation Army has won the annual Golden Deeds Award of East Stroudsburg Exchange Club.

Maj. Adam's selection was announced yesterday by club officials. The choice was based in part on Maj. Adam's "unselfish services to the community . . . particularly her work with young people."

Club members touched on other points: the familiar sight of Maj. Adam and fellow workers standing out on the street in mid-winter tolling the Salvation Army bell . . . rounding up the youngsters on Sunday morning to drive them to Sunday school services . . . aiding in charitable work throughout the county . . . conducting religious services at the county jail . . .

Reasons for her selection as honoree for the year will be inscribed on a large certificate. The certificate will be entered in the Exchange Club's big "Golden Deeds Award Book" along with the four which have preceded it.

Maj. Adam will be given a smaller, duplicate certificate bearing the same inscription.

This award ceremony will take place at 6:30 p. m. May 25 at Werry's Sunnybrook, Echo Lake.

Speakers will include Brigadier James Hepburn, Scranton, Salvation Army division commander; President Judge Fred W. Davis, who is county chairman of the Army's advisory board; and representatives of the East Stroudsburg Ministerium Association and Monroe County Sunday School Association.

Maj. Adam lives at East Stroudsburg RD3. Her headquarters is the Salvation Army, 78 S. Courtland St.

Good telephone service takes good people!

Like a pair of twins, good telephone service and good telephone people go side by side.

As a case in point, consider the Sandherr sisters . . . identical twins of Harrisburg, Pa.

They look alike. They dress alike. From their earliest days they've been together . . . through childhood, through school, and in their choice of a Bell Telephone career.

They know, too, that their jobs make them members of a team that provides an essential service. The longer they stay with the Telephone Company, the greater their sense of responsibility to their community.
